WHY CHOOSE US

SUPPLYING THE RIGHT ANGLE

No matter what the subject, we extract essential points of view to provide the right angle for pragmatic, yet business driven solutions.

With a 10 years plus in the industry, our core services are built around the experience we have gathered from business insights gained with operators operators, manufacturers, authorities and investor relations.

FST understood very quickly SIMCOM needs and our customer profile, they were very responsive. We have been able to relocate and requalify the first device in a tight 4 week time frame!

SIMCOM Team appreciated to work with FST which organized the handling and relocation. After such a great experience we are going to continue working with FST on the next project.

SATISFIED CUSTOMERS

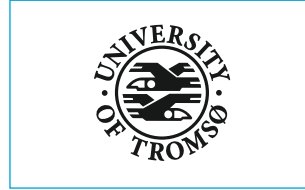

We have been deeply grateful for the services provided by FST after we had decided to purchase our new flight simulation training device. It truly saved us a lot of time & resources, which would otherwise have been blocked for our regular operations.

Factory acceptance, project management and the relocation of an already existing device had been carried out professionally and efficiently, thus ensuring a successful qualification.
